

Catherine Magill

Catherine is a Chartered Accountant, holding a Higher Diploma in Taxation. Following her articles at Ernst & Young in Johannesburg, South Africa, her career began in Investment Banking in London, followed by a period of work on a broad range of financial due diligences including advising on leveraged and management buyouts, and private equity transactions for PricewaterhouseCoopers in Hong Kong. She continued to work at PricewaterhouseCoopers for a further four years upon her return to South Africa in 2003 following which she continued her career for ten years at Standard Bank at their head office in Johannesburg. There she supported the Global Chief Risk Officer for the Personal and Business Banking Segment focusing specifically on credit, operational and insurance risk.

Subsequent to her relocation to Europe at the beginning of 2019, she partnered with like-minded individuals to form Trib3L Consulting bringing you insights from different angles! You can learn more about their offering at www.trib3l.com.

Catherine's extensive experience in the financial field, risk management and promotion of strategic reporting, combined with her strong analytical, research and reporting skills make her well placed to assist on a corporate or personal level with financial, strategic or taxation issues or queries.
