

The COP26 climate summit in Glasgow succeeded in getting 197 countries to agree new rules on limiting greenhouse gas emissions, to limit global temperature rise to well below 2°C since pre-industrial times, and ideally to 1.5°C. It also marked the first time that coal or fossil fuels had been directly referenced in a COP agreement. While many said the deal did not go far enough, businesses nevertheless have started adapting to the green transition.

Please join us at our Climate Change Conference: After COP26
24 November, 9-12am, Hotel Union, Ljubljana, White hall and online

Programme:

9:00-9:15 Registration

9:15-9:45 Summary & outcomes of COP26

Tiffany Sadler, British Ambassador to Slovenia

Tina Kobilšek, Head of delegation to UNFCCC, Ministry of Environment and Spatial planning, Republic of Slovenia
Moderated by Ladeja Godina Košir, CEO and founder, Circular Change, Institute for Circular Economy

9:45-9:55 Zero waste Scotland on COP26

Iain Gulland, CEO, Zero waste Scotland

9:55-10:40 Implementation of COP26 conclusions in Slovenia through Green Energy transition

Interview:

Jernej Vrtovec, Minister of Infrastructure, Republic of Slovenia

Business panel on green energy transition:

Ana Stanič, principal, E&A Law

Jože Bajuk, member of the management board, Petrol

Bill Goldie, sales director, Redshaw advisors

Green Challengers: Vid Vončina, Izoelekro & Aleš Nastran, Ambient

Moderated by Luka Vesnaver, Partner, Deloitte

10:40-11:00 Coffee break

11:00-11:45 How companies can adapt to COP26

Marcela Klofutar, manager, Michelin star winning restaurant & member of JRE Slovenija

Boštjan Černe Ph.D, Head of Product Development, Trimo

Thomas Magill, Country managing partner, PwC

Jon Locke, vice president of the management board, Nova KBM

Green Challengers: Martin Vogrin, Emazing & Klemen Furlan Giro Mobility

Moderated by Ana Struna Bregar, CEO, CER

11:45-13:00 Green Lunch Networking with Chef Uroš Štefelin

Attendance (live or online) is free of charge; however registration is obligatory. If you decide to attend the event in person, please make sure to comply with the PCT rule. The event will be organised according to current state healthy regulation thus the format of the event might change.

Register here to attend the event in person

Register here to watch the event online